PAINTINGS BY PARKER FEATURED AT UD RIKE ART GALLERY

DAYTON, Ohio--Paintings by Patricia Zinsmeister Parker will be featured at the Rike Center Gallery at the University of Dayton Oct. 30-Nov. 20. An opening reception will be held from 2 to 4 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 4, in the gallery.

Admission to the exhibit and the reception is free and open to the public.

Parker is a lecturer at the University of Akron School of Art. Her works are included in the permanent collections of Kent State University, the Canton Art Museum and the Archives of American Art at the Smithsonian Institute in Washington, D.C.

"Parker is a painter's painter," wrote Gary Schwindler in the March-April 1988 issue of Dialogue magazine. "There is an obvious passion for the handling of the medium itself--through bold brush work eschewing refinement, or the layering of paint in apparently casual, but loving manner...With some three decades of studio engagement to her credit, it is important to acknowledge that Parker owes much to the artistic past and the near-present; especially to gestural abstract expressionism, and to New Wave or New Image painting in particular."

Hours at the UD Rike Center Art Gallery are 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday and noon to 4 p.m. Saturday and Sunday. For further information, contact UD's visual arts department at (513) 229-3237.
